Commentary

The proposed revised docketing statement contains significant reorganization on the first and third pages. The first page simplifies the language related to the composition of the record. The third page eliminates redundant questions by creating a new “General Information” section at the top of the page. The only other significant change is to the civil case information. The expedited appeals question tracks the language of App.R. 11.2 so that parties and the Court can more accurately determine whether the appeal must be expedited.
